There was a somewhat protracted discussion on the West Point outrage, and the general sentiment was that Whittaker should be represented by counsel before the Board of Enquiry now sitting, and that the government should provide means for an impartial investigation of the affair. It was decided that the department of justice should detail one of its officers to be present during the progress of the investigation. District Autorney Martin J. Townsend, of New York, will be assigned this duty.

EXODERINGURY.

EXODUS INQUIST.

The Senate Exodus Committee to-day examined R. L. Faulkner, (colored) 63 years old, from Natchitoches. Witness said he was a Republican but voted the Democratic ticket, because it was safer to do so, and because of late years he had been disgusted with the Republican leaders in the State. He thought there were ers in the State. He thought there were seventy or eighty colored men in his district who preferred to and did vote the Democratic ticket, but when asked by Senator Windom to mention some of them he was positive voted the ticket he could think of but four. He related his experience with the buil-dosers and said that in 1868 he was president of a Republican club in his parish. A few nights before the election day he was taken out of his honse by forty or fifty masked men, who robbed him of his pures and registration papers and then allowed him to return home, after advising him to resign tion papers and then allowed him to re-turn home, after advising him to resign his position as president of the club and to withdraw from politics, which he did. The vice president of the club, a Methodist minister, he said did not fare so well; armed and masked men visited the preach-er's house about the same time, and after calling him out because the preacher recognized some of the party he was in-stantly shot and killed. Witness said he was persecuted by the Republicans prestanty and and killed. Witness said he was persecuted by the Republicans, presumably the colored men, for sfullating with the Democrats, and on one occasion they took a valuable mule belonging to him and drowned the animal.

THE WEST POINT OUTRAGE.

Yesterday's Examination in the Case. WEST POINT, April 13.—Before the Cour of inquiry convened to-day all the mem-bers of the Court inspected Whittaker's room and contents.

The first witness was Major Alexander Piper. He gave his testimony nervously, and in matter corroborated the testimony dele-of the cadets. He picked up pieces of on at burnt paper from the floor, which appear ed to be portions of lists on which reliefs were kept by the corporals. One struck him as being a page from the Bible. Wit-ness asked Whittaker about his assailants, saying: "Don't you know the voices of all the cadets?" He replied: "No, sir. Some cadets I don't even know by name." At the time witness was impressed, without a minute examination, that the outrage was committed by other persons than cadets.
Superintendent Gavler, of the New York post office, testified to the writing in Superintendent Gayer, of the writing in the additional six pieces of paper handed him yesterday. He was positive that none of them were written by the person who wrote the note of warning to Cadet Whittaker. The note is not written in a woman's hand, and portions of the words are written in the natural hand, the rest are disguised.

This was another point in favor of Whittaker. Alexander, the post surgeon who was called to attend Whittaker, told the story of what he saw of him and what he said. He could not ascribe Whittaker's condition, if his story was true, to to any other cause but fear, and said that Whittaker told him two stories about the looking glass.

He expected to close the debate in support of the bill. Mr. Bayard supported the bill. Mr. Thurman said the whole question Mr. Thurman said the whole question could be put in a nut shell upon the claims of these private citisens for damages, which they had sustained by the loss of their property. A neighbor of Mr. Riley's had some time before threatened to have had some time before threatened to have revenge upon him for some real or fancied injury. This and some other circumstances directed suspicion to two parties, H. C. Hendershot and Jessie Taylor, jr., living in the vicinity, and they were accordingly arrested, and a preliminary examination was held on Monday before 'Squire David Brown, at Armstrong's Mills, The testimony was deemed sufficient to justify holding the alleged guilty parties, and they were accordingly, in default of the required ball, ordered committed to the county jail at St. Clairsville, until the next session of the County Court.

HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE.—Yesterday afternoon the residence of August Kuckuck, a German, living just above Rainey's coal works, on the Ohio side of the river, caught fire in some mysterious way, and owing to the lack of any means of extinguishing or checking the flames, it was totally consumed. Four or five children of Mr. Kuckuck's were sick with messles in the house at the time, and it was with difficulty that they were removed alive. All the household goods and personal property in the building were a total loss. The building was partially insured. The unfortunate owner, however, is in only moderate circumstances, and could illy stand the serious blow.

Swiss Colonists.—A number of gentlemen arrived in this city last night from Bern, Switzerlande. They are in charge of Dr. Ludwig who has been unremitting in his efforts to induce immigration from his country to this. They will to-day visit our places of industry and other points of interest. They will spend two months in this country, and will bring a colony "if all things work together for good," in Fayette county, this State. The names of the party are: Manuel D. Ludwig, Herman Kircheff, Otto Brummer, Charles Chapuis and Walter Von Miller. They will leave for the interior to-morrow.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—Yesterday after noon, a horse statched to a cart and driven by Mr. N. Carl Hamilton, of the firm of Hamilton & McGranahan, frightened at a passing train near the Central Glass Works, and becoming unmanageable, Mr. Hamilton, to save himself from injury leaped to the ground. The jump was very unfortunate, as he wrenched his right limb, sustaining a painful fracture of that member. He was removed to his residence on Market street, above Eighti street, where medical aid was summoned to attend to his injuries.

Feed Lindermann, manager, and Wilson Morrison, manager of the nail factory of the Top mill, left yesterday for New Castle and Pittsburgh, Pa., and Youngstown, Ohio, to examine the iron and nail mills in those places.

afternoon passed the House substitute for Mr. Cole's Inter-State Railroad bill, and the same is now a law. The measure is in the interest of a number of English capitalists, who have projected a line of railroad from Cincinnati to Baltimore, to run along the north bank of the Ohio to Gallipolis, thence through West Virginia and Maryland to Baltimore. They have the privilege of issuing preferred stock and bonds, instead of common stock, in an amount in excess of that formerly allowed by law. Mesers. Charles Erty and W. H. Shoenberger, of Cinciunati, have been here for a week past getting, the bill encated into a law. The route will be a straight one, and it is claimed the heaviest grades will be but sixty-six feet to the mile, as against one hundred and sixteen on the Baltimore and Ohio. The enterprise is one in which Cincinnati and the country to be penetrated are deeply concerned. It is said that it will be built, if at all, almost entirely by English capitalists, without seking the people along the line to shoulder any of the capital necessary for its completion. polis, thence through West Virginia and

A New Railroad Project—The Opposition to it—Local News Notes and Person Mention.

BARNESVILLE, April 13.

nen are opposed to building another rail road to our town, is a connundrum which no reasonable person can answer. Never theless it is a candid fact. This too, when we have ample evidence of the advantag ed derived from competition in these grea corporations. The Enterprise, our town paper, urges the importance of the enter prise, as it has done in all matters pertain prise, as it has done in an insteers pertaining to the welfare and interests of our town, but the highest aim of persons here who have the means, seems to be to invest in bonds, or watching an opportunity to shave some poor devil's note, and sit around town and talk about good times, rebel brigadiers dec. As an evidence of what our manufacturers and shippers what our manufacturers and shippers could raise, if a rival road was build, we will relate a circumstance occuring with Watt's Bros., our foundry men, some time since:

Sometime since they received an order for a car load of car-wheels from Colorado, but when the purchasers found what the freight would be from Barnesville there, they refused to take them. Watts, in order to make the sale shipped the goods to Belliary in their own name, then they refused to take them. Watts, in order to make the sale shipped the goods to Bellaire in their own name, then rahipped direct from there back through Barnesville, and saved over a hundred dollars! By working it this way they have sold the same parties two car loads since, amounting to over $2,000, which was brought thousands of miles and distributed in our midst. The same is good with our machine shops. On account of rates here Mr. Kufler cannot compete with firms in Illinois. He is the patentee of the Champion hay rake, yet they make them in Illinois and ship to Columbus cheaper than he can, so you can see how the men who have enterprise are tied down by this monopoly, and who would give employment to our idle men, who are now, in many instances suffering, if they could get rates so they could put their goeds in market and compete with other towns more highly favored.
